

Police Nab Four in Dope Raid

An unemployed gardener was arrested on dope charges at Little Company of Mary Hospital Tuesday after he apparently passed out from an overdose of drugs.

Arrested for possession of dangerous drugs and being under the influence of narcotics was John E. Pinedo Jr., 20, of 425 Calle de Castellana. Hospital officials gave police a bottle containing 23 Red capsules resembling second which they said being second which they said they found on Pinedo at the hospital.

Police searching the Pinedo residence said they also found a hypodermic needle wrapped in foil near the backyard fence, and a bottle of clear liquid and a vial of empty capsules in the house.

The arrest occurred about 4 p.m., shortly after friends of the suspect called an ambulance for him. When police arrived to check on the call, George F. Weston, 20, of 234 Paseo de Gracia, answered the door and denied knowledge any incident requiring an ambulance, police said. Weston also denied police entrance into the house.

When police went to the rear of the home, they found two other youths attempting to help the unconscious Pinedo out the rear door.

The youths were identified as Peter C. Henry, 21, of 22961 Nadine Circle, and Robert Akers, 22, of 5118 Laurette St. Weston, Henry, and Akers were all booked for possession of dangerous drugs.

Weston and Henry were also booked for resisting arrest, and Akers was charged with being under the influence of a narcotic.

Tartar Teen Talk

By Betsy Tomita

Plans for a Tartar student government center are awaiting approval from the school administration and the Board of Education.

Student Council strongly recommends the measure because of numerous complaints of the cramped council room from council members.

A likely spot for the center is beneath the second floor of the Administration Building. This location would utilize the existing piers and ceiling.

THE CENTER would be useful for meetings of council, congress, and clubs, receptions, college representatives, and other activities.

Cost of the room has not yet been estimated and wood paneling and carpeting are other suggestions for the center.

To help pay for the center, a candy sale has been planned for the first two weeks in February. A $500 cash prize will be awarded to the class which sells the most candy.

JUNIORS are sponsoring a giant car wash tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tickets are a dollar and refreshments will also be served. Money collected from the car wash will go to their senior prom expenses.

Volleyball's new sport at Torrance High. Coach Robert Williams, P.E. instructor, sponsors the newly founded boys' volleyball team.

The team consists of six players, two setters and four hitters. Included in the team are Kris Wallace and Wayne Smith, the setters, and Mike Lynch, Chuck

He further claimed that Saukkola, in his new post in the city attorney's office, had prepared most of the 225-page document which Ferraro filed last Dec. 16.

South Side

By Lynne Alessio

What happens when 3,000 students invade the school campus after Christmas vacation?

Presumably, the hustle and bustle of the normal school day would resume. But the skiing in Utah, surfing at Waikiki, visiting relatives back East, or just sitting around watching the "boob tube" continuously — all provide means of relaxation, but this doesn't automatically mean a restful way. After all this activity the students are now ready to rest.

A wise man once stated, "No one needs a vacation like the person who just returned from one." To look at the South High campus, this becomes an understatement.

SEMESTER finals will begin in three weeks, but will Spartans be prepared for them after these weeks of doing nothing? Somehow, even through the protestations of never wanting to return to school again, the students survive.

The first day of getting up at 7 o'clock again is really the worst; afterwards it's just the same rigmarole again. Most students even live through their finals successfully. (It is not determined, though, how many parents survive them.)

IT'S ONLY normal that activities are slow starting after vacation. Basketball games are twice weekly — Wednesday and Friday — and the first after game dance will be held next Friday. Clubs are beginning to resume to elect new officers for the coming semester. Soon the campus will be covered with campaign posters for the upcoming second semester student Body elections.

The campus seems to say, "We're slowing down now so we can plan ahead for next semester — just wait till then!"
